Abstract: This is a Simplified Chinese translation of the English pamphlet 2056. Ethics questions ask how we should treat each other. We answer ethics questions by thinking about our values, or what is important to us. When you or someone you care about is sick or hurt, it can be hard to figure out what to do. This ethics tool can help you decide what is important and what to do. This pamphlet includes things to remember when dealing with ethical issues, questions to think about as you explore the issue, patient and family rights and responsibilities, tips for talking about concerns with your health care team, and examples of ethics stories. A list of ethics resources and supports for patients and families is included.

The French translation of this pamphlet 2142, "Outil d'éthique pour les patients et les familles : Aide pour les enjeux d'éthique " is also available.

The Arabic translation of this pamphlet 2153, is also available.
